

6.0 Diagramming Direct Objects

Directions: Diagram the following sentences. Use the example for help.

Example: The baby kicked the ball.

subject | verb | direct object

baby | kicked | ball
the the

1. Does your sister love furry cats?

2. The tallest boy on the basketball team dunked the ball.

3. Wow! You will run a marathon on Sunday?

4. My dad videotaped me during the play.

5. The sick English teacher blew her nose.

6.1 Diagramming Indirect Objects

Directions: Diagram the following sentences. Use the example for help.

Example: The baby kicked me the ball.

1. Could you please bake me a cake?

2. Nate bought his mother flowers.

3. Arrrg, the bookstore sent me the wrong book!

4. Caroline and Mike gave Emilie a birthday card.

5. The woman handed Alex a new passport.

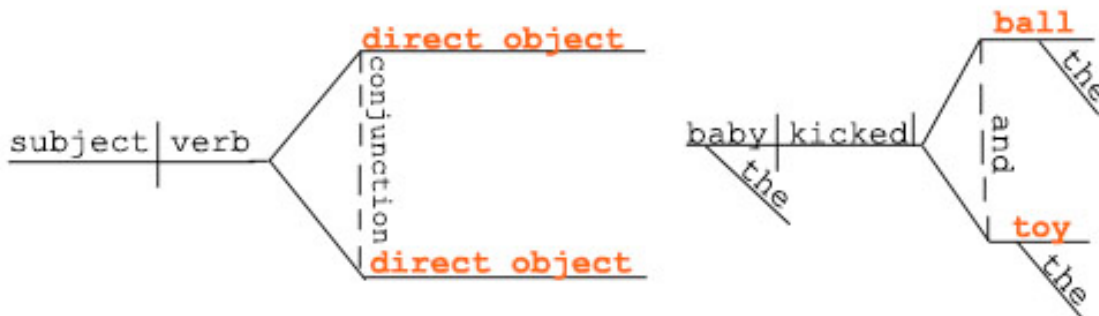

6.2 Diagramming Compound Direct and Indirect Objects

Directions: Diagram the following sentences. Use the examples for help.

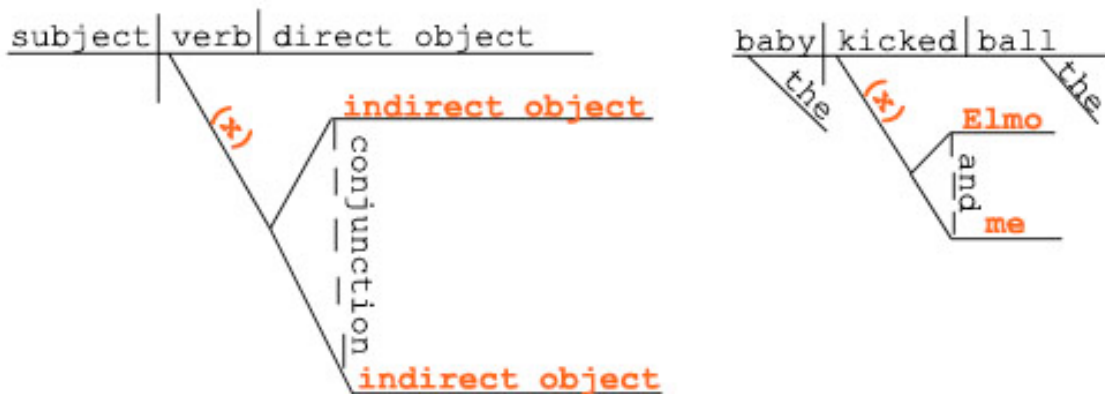

Example:

The baby kicked the ball and toy. The baby kicked Elmo and me the ball.

Compound Direct Object

Compound Indirect Object

1. I smelled the delicious homemade pie and cookies.

2. Yikes! The tornado violently hit the house and threw the trees across the field.

3. The guests gave Mary a book about Germany and she gave them a photo of her town.

4. I reluctantly gave Edward and Bella the keys to my car.

5. My friend and I walked into the woods and picked Rose flowers.